

C. O. P. MADE A CINCH DISTRICT.

The Thirteenth Congressional Is Most Skillfully Gerryman-dered to Make It Absolutely Sure.

THEY CALL IT "WARTED."

Several of These "Warts" Are Bits of Republican Districts That Are Tacked On to Make the Real 7,000 Majority Producer.

Francis Burton Harrison, the Tammany candidate for Congressman against James W. Perry in the Thirteenth Congressional District, said today at his headquarters in the Baruch building:

"They say I am leading a reform, but few know its full character. When the Republicans gerryman-dered this Democratic island of Manhattan they aimed to gouge out at least one district to be certainly Republican, no matter if the city was Democratic by 100,000 majority."

"This is that district. The Thirteenth includes the Twenty-fifth, Twenty-seventh and Twenty-ninth Assembly Districts, which are the strongest Republican districts in the city, with Fifth and Madison avenues for backbone and main artery."

The seven "warts" are: "But that was not enough. They found seven scattered election districts along the border in other Assembly Districts, each of which was strongly Republican, and they tacked on these seven and attached them to the Thirteenth Congressional District to make it more surely Republican."

"These seven widely separated election districts attached to the outer boundaries of my Congressional district make it as though it was afflicted with warts, and the district has the distinction of holding within its boundaries land warts the whole or parts of ten Assembly districts."

It's a Long District. "It is three and a half miles long, running from Ninth Street to the south to Ninety-third street on the north and taking in both sides of Central Park."

"Politically it is supposed to be good for 7,000 Republican majority, but we are making a strong canvass, working on the Cleveland-Sheridan platform of tariff reform and tariff reduction as the effective remedy for the trusts, and we are gradually working down that 7,000 majority and hope to wipe it out."

GIRL OF FOURTEEN WEDS BOY SIXTEEN
Went on Visit, Was Married and Brought Her Husband Home to Mother.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 22.—Florence Ellis, fourteen years old, returned from a visit to an aunt in Steubenville, Ohio, she did not return alone. She brought with her her husband, Nelson O'Neil, sixteen years old, who had been residing with his parents in Steubenville. The girl made all arrangements for the wedding. After the ceremony the aunt was notified and she sent a telegram to Mrs. Ellis informing her.

Through delay, the boy and girl arrived ahead of the telegram and caused a sensation when explanations were made.

ODELL DOESN'T SELL TO STATE.

Denies that Firm with Which He Is Associated Supplies New York Institutions with Groceries.

HE WRITES "IT IS A LIE."

Figures Are Quoted to Show that the Firm Involved Did Much More Business with the State Before Odell Became Governor.

(Special to The Evening World.) ALBANY, Oct. 22.—Gov. Odell today denies the truth of the published statements that he is interested in the profits from sales to State institutions of groceries through the firm of J. W. Matthews & Co., of Newburg and New York City.

The Governor was so busily engaged today in completing the speech which he will deliver this evening at Syracuse that he gave orders to admit no callers, but J. C. McKnight, his confidential secretary, bore to the Governor a written inquiry as to the truth of the charge.

The Governor wrote this answer: "Gov. Odell says the charge is a lie. If I answer it specifically I will do so in a public speech."

A personal friend of the Governor made the following statement to The Evening World representative: "The firm of Matthews & Co. has done business with the State since 1886. In 1887 it sold groceries to the State to the value of $9,000; in 1888, $4,000; in 1889, $12,000; and in 1900, $11,000, making a total of about $35,000 worth of business before Gov. Odell became Chief Executive of the State."

"Gov. Odell lent the firm $25,000 in 1901 and offered to take a note for it. The firm did not desire to have any notes and gave him preferred stock for it. The company desired the loan to extend its business."

"In 1901 it did $4,000 worth of business with the State, but has had no contract since that time, having bid in 1902, but did not receive any contracts, other than being lower bidder."

"The firm has one contract with the State Commission in Lunacy to furnish food, and claim in connection with it that the expert of the commission had discriminated against it. The matter was brought to the Governor's attention, and he held that the company must abide by the decision of the expert."

"Gov. Odell gave $2,000 a short time ago to induce a firm to locate in Newburg, and if that firm did business with the State the same charge might be made. The Matthews firm did at least seven times the amount of business with the State before Odell loaned it the $25,000."

"JOE" WHITE HELD IN COLONIZING CASE
Employees Say Reputed Owner of the Little Jumbo Forced Them to Register Illegally.

Deputy Attorney-General Emile Fuchs appeared in the Essex Market Court today to prosecute Joseph White, alleged proprietor of the Little Jumbo, Rapid Transit Hotel, at No. 119 Bowery, on a charge of aiding and abetting illegal registration.

William Beaver, a McCullagh deputy, arrested Thomas Melvin, his brother Henry Melvin, and Nicola Pucclavelli. The Melvins are in White's employ as waiters and the Italian is the porter in the hotel. When the three prisoners were taken to McCullagh's office they confessed to Deputy Attorney-General Fuchs that they had registered illegally and said they were forced to do so by the defendant, White. In court they pleaded guilty and were held for trial in default of $1,000 bail. White pleaded not guilty. He was defended by the law firm of Sullivan, Goldsmith & Engel. He was held in default of $1,000 bail. Marie Engel, formerly the Tammany Hall leader of the Eighth Assembly District, went on White's bond.

TRAGEDY AFTER ROMANCE.
Having Married a Sweetheart of Former Years Beers Ends Life.

BERLIN, Conn., Oct. 22.—Oscar R. Beers, a wealthy cattleman of Berlin, Ill., and Mrs. Julia Gade, a Derby boarding-housekeeper, were married last January. They went to Berlin to live. When Mrs. Beers came to Derby a month's visit her husband wrote her that life was unbearable without her. Next came strange telegrams indicating mental derangement, and yesterday Mrs. Beers was notified that her husband had shot himself several times in the heart.

Mr. and Mrs. Beers were playmates in childhood, then lovers. A quarrel broke their engagement, each soon married and death reached each of a helpmeet. At the Pan-American Exposition they met unexpectedly and their marriage soon followed.

WOODRUFF NOT MAKING BETS.
Lieutenant - Governor Denies Putting Up $10,000 Against Coler But Was Willing to Lend Money for $5,000 Chance.

HILL, HE SAYS: "LET 'EM TALK."
David B. Hill slid into the city quietly from Wolfert's Roost this afternoon. He seemed very happy. The smile that has been missed from his face for some days shone again in all its glory.

At the Hoffman House, where the Senator was greeted by nearly all the candidates on the Democratic State ticket, he was very affable.

An Evening World reporter asked: "Senator, won't you say something in answer to the stories about that you have 'busted up' Mr. Coler, muzzled him and grazed him so he shall not speak?" Mr. Hill smiled more broadly. Shaking his head, he answered: "Oh, no, I won't say anything about that. You'd think less of me as a politician if I paid any attention to such stories."

"I am very familiar with that style of campaigning. Let 'em talk; let 'em talk." "How about the stories that Gov. Odell has profited through the buying of supplies at State institutions?" the reporter asked cautiously.

The smile remained. Shaking both his head and hands this time, he said: "I really must beg to be excused. I am very busy preparing my speech for to-night."

Mr. Hill would not say whether or not the speech to-night would contain an answer to the question. He, with the State candidates, will speak at the big ratification meeting at and around Tammany Hall. Mr. Coler is down for a speech at the Manhattan Club reception, following the big torchlight parade which he will review from the club.

'NOT GUILTY,' PLEADS YOUNG
Lawyer for Mrs. Pulitzer's Slayer Can't See Grand Jury Minutes.

William Hooper Young, the murderer of Mrs. Annie Pulitzer, was arraigned before Judge Cowling in General Sessions this morning to plead to the indictment for murder in the first degree found against him by the Grand Jury. Young's counsel, W. S. Hart, made a motion for permission to inspect the minutes of the Grand Jury, but this Judge Cowling denied. Thereupon Mr. Hart said his client would stand mute. The Judge directed that a plea of not guilty be entered for Young, and the prisoner was remanded to the Tombs to await trial.

CHOKED TO DEATH BY A BEAN
Henry Schieser, two years old, was choked to death last night by a large bean lodging in his throat. The boy was playing in his mother's grocery store at No. 73 Courtlandt avenue, the Bronx, when he picked up a large marrowfat bean and put it in his mouth. It stuck in his throat and all of Mrs. Schieser's efforts to dislodge it were fruitless. She called a physician, but when the doctor arrived the child was dead.

LITTLE GIRL CAME TO SEE HER AUNT.
Laura Cartrell's Relatives Deny that She Ran Away from St. Hilda's Home with a Man.

Relatives of Laura Cartrell, the girl who disappeared from St. Hilda's Home, and sister at No. 224 Seventh avenue, was found dead at Central Park West and Sixty-first street "early to-day." It is thought that her death was caused by a hemorrhage of the lungs, as he had been suffering from consumption for a long time.

When he was first found in a great pool of blood, with several bruises on his face, he was thought to have been murdered and the police started to work on that theory. Witnesses were soon found, however, who had seen him fall. His nose was broken by striking the curb.

Peters had been sick for a long time. He left his home yesterday, telling his mother that he expected to see a physician and make arrangements to go to a sanatorium. He did not return to dinner.

The police summoned an ambulance from Roosevelt Hospital, but as the man was dead his body was taken to the station-house, where it was identified by his mother, who was notified after an identification card was found in the man's pocket.

DEATH DISCLOSED WEALTH.
